Family Engagement...

....Promoting School Readiness through Engagement Activities!

This Family Engagement conference lays out a course that is appropriate for every staff person, from the members of your management team to the volunteers. The conference is designed to build the capacity of all Head Start staff to make the PFCE frameworks renewed vision for family engagement a reality for every parent in every program. The program consists of four conferences. Each conference is designed to help staff better understand and implement the PFCE framework. The conferences will give all staff the essential engagement skills that contribute to the PFCE overall effectiveness as an engaging, family centered community.

Parent, Family and Community Engagement Conference

What you'll learn and how you'll benefit...

These four conferences are specifically designed to help new and experienced Head Start employees utilize the Parent, Family and Community Engagement Framework to guide engagement activities that produce the seven family engagement outcomes. Each conference is designed to meet specific requirements of the PFCE framework.

- Conference #1—Understanding Parent Engagement and Implementing the Framework: This conference will apply the broader definition of parent engagement to program's staff daily interactions with parents. The conference will define the goals of the PFCE vision for parent, family and community engagement and be able to identify current program practices that support these goals. Participants will learn how to engage with children and families using practices and behaviors that promote belonging and invite participation. (Credits earned: 3) Conference Date: San Francisco, CA—Nov 4-6, 2013
- Conference #2—Promoting Family Engagement Outcomes: This conference is designed to build the capacity of Head Start staff who work directly with families. Participants will learn how to apply the PFCE outcomes to their daily work, demonstrate the skills necessary for forming supportive engagements with families, develop creative approaches for providing engagement activities to families and assess their own skills in effectively engaging with families and establish plans for professional development accordingly. (Credits earned: 3) Conference Date: Las Vegas, NV—December 9-11, 2013
- Conference #3—Community Engagement: Building Effective Alliances: This conference is designed to establish the foundation for engaging a community of support. The conference will help staff to examine the impact of their own values, beliefs and behaviors on the development of engaging relationships with others and with Head Start families. It will help staff to use engagement to support each other and for families through recognizing and reinforcing individual and family strengths, attentive, listening, "reaching out", and displaying accepting and caring behaviors. (Credits earned: 3) Conference Date: Atlanta, GA—January 8-10, 2014
- Conference #4—Engagement Partnerships: A Continuous Plan: This conference is designed to increase the capacity of staff working directly with families to build skills engage families and offer them support based on their strengths, interests and needs and develop and implement family partnership agreements. Participants will examine and practice strategies surrounding the professional issues of confidentiality, roles and boundaries and record-keeping. # Disabilities Services...

“Managing challenging behaviors and promoting children’s success...”

A developmentally appropriate classroom lays the groundwork so that teachers can also draw from a number of approaches, such as conflict resolution and behavior modification strategies. A nurturing, consistent relationship between a child and caregiver is also key when working with children with complex and significant problem behaviors. These conferences apply Head Start core values, as well as the Head Start Program Performance Standards on Services for Children with Disabilities. It also applies Head Start Program Performance Standards related to individualizing, developmentally appropriate practice and support the social emotional development of all children.

Disabilities Services: Managing Challenging Behaviors

What you’ll learn and how you’ll benefit...

The conferences are designed to provide Head Start teaching staff with the skills and knowledge to maintain a safe and inclusive classroom environment. Head Start classrooms provide a safe and respectful learning environment that creates a foundation for all students to realize their learning potential. However sometimes Head Start teachers are faced with students whose behavior poses challenges to the classroom environment. These conferences offer participants a process for reflecting on their own practice, assessing difficult situations and designing interventions through joint problems solving.

- Conference #1: Social Emotional Teaching: Building Relationships and Creating Supportive Environments—This course will focus on the importance of building relationships with children, families and colleagues as well as designing environments, schedules and routines, structuring transitions, helping children learn rules and routines and planning activities that promote engagement. The conference will also focus on the importance of being more intentional about teaching social emotional skills, supporting the development of friendship skills, and defining emotional literacy activities. # Health Services...

...“Helping Agencies promote healthier children and families in Head Start!”

The cornerstone of health services is establishing a linkage and partnership between children and families to provide an ongoing source of continuous, accessible medical care. By delivering comprehensive health services such as screenings, assessments and follow-ups for every child, Head Start can make a real difference in the lives of children and families. These conferences will explore the challenges of delivering comprehensive services while enhancing skills to meet these challenges. Participants will learn how to engage families in detailed oriented health plans that are focused on family well-being by learning how to set activities with families, health-care providers and other staff that promote school readiness through qualitative not quantitative health services.

Health Services Conference: Managing Comprehensive Services

What you'll learn and how you'll benefit...

This conference is designed to help programs support and enhance the quality of health services by learning proper and consistent methods of delivering health services. It is based on the core principles and practices that comprise Head Start's approach to health care for children and families. It is designed to help staff recognize and implement policies, procedures and practices that promote comprehensive health services.

- Conference #1: Health Services: Managing Comprehensive Services—This conference is designed to help participants support and enhance the quality of their health services by learning effective and consistent methods of delivering health services. Participants will gain insight into current medical, health, nutrition and dental practices, learn to monitor classrooms for health safety, learn about medication administration, short and long term exclusion, incomplete physical examinations, address barriers with providers and understand and effectively implement follow-up services for EPSDT schedules. (Credits earned: 3) Conference Date: Miami, FL —November 13-15, 2013
- Conference #2: Safety First: Preparing for and Managing Emergencies—This conference will focus on helping staff understand the causes of childhood injuries and plan steps to more effectively prevent and manage children's injuries in Head Start, at home and in the community. The conference will help develop participants skills in setting up and maintaining safe environments and promoting safe behaviors for children and adults. It is designed to develop staff's and parent's skills so they can reduce the number and severity of childhood injuries and keep children and families healthier and happier. —(Credits earned: 3) Conference Date: Las Vegas, NV —December 4-6, 2013
- Conference #3: Healthy Classrooms: Preventing and Managing Communicable Diseases—This conference is used to help participants understand steps they can take to prevent and manage communicable diseases more effectively. It builds on communication and cooperation among program staff, parents and health professionals. It helps programs to develop clear health policies and a plan for teaching staff, parents and children about communicable diseases. It will help participants effectively create a healthier Head Start program. (Credits earned: 3) Conference Date: Atlanta, GA —January 8-10, 2014
- Conference #4: Mental Health Services: Building Resiliency—This conference will help participants understand how to promote mental health, and be able to build and support nurturing relationships, to promote healthy social and emotional development, develop strategies to promote resiliency within Head Start children, families and communities and define mental health as a positive attribute rather than as absence of mental illness. Participants will also learn how to apply a framework to understand the meaning and possible explanations for children's behavior and use that information to plan effective responses to that behavior as well as plan and support activities that improve the fit between temperament and environment by anticipating challenges and planning to meet them successfully. # Online Training... Education without boundaries!

Make sure you're ready when opportunity knocks!

Online Training...

Online training is a valuable and cost-effective method for professional development budgets that provides employees with well-rounded and regulations based training dedicated to promoting excellence in Head Start. The benefits are astounding but here are key points to consider:

- Convenient - As staff struggle to balance the demands of work and home, Online Learning allows them to learn from work, home and on the road.
- Relevant - Since course content includes the most current topics, Online Learning ensures training is applicable to a person's Head Start career path.
- Immediate - Delivery over the Internet enables online learning to begin with just a few mouse clicks.
- Affordable - Cost savings is a key attraction as agencies save between 50-70% due to elimination of travel expenses .
- Fun - By providing a captivating interactive environment with dynamic content, Online Learning not only effectively keeps people up-to-date, but interested as well.
- Easy to Use - Open an Internet browser and employees are up and running quickly.

Earn a Credential or Certificate...

HS University's Credential Professionals are cut from a different cloth than those who attend training workshops only. Our credentialed students not only thrive on meeting the challenges of performance standards, but they also take it upon themselves to develop and hone their skills and to use HS University to stay ahead. The practical expertise that is gained through HS University's programs provides students with the kind of regulations know-how that identifies areas of non-compliance and brings about consistent quality solutions. A credential requires 3 credit hours, a Prior Learning Assessment (PLA portfolio packet) 120 clock hours of fieldwork, an examination process and a candidate application. A certificate, which is a license, requires 12 credit hours of training, a Prior Learning Assessment (PLA portfolio packet), 120 clock hours of fieldwork, an examination process, a candidate application and a license fee. Education certificates require 480 clock hours of fieldwork. Choosing a credential and certificate programs is an opportunity to earn professional recognition beyond post secondary education or help in the completion of a degree program.
